Bristol-Myers Squibb Announces Departure of Chief Commercial Officer

MONDAY, JULY 23, 2018 8:30 AM EDT

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Bristol-Myers Squibb Company (NYSE:BMJ) today announced that Murdo Gordon, executive vice president and chief commercial officer, is leaving the company, effective August 3, 2018, to pursue another opportunity.

"On behalf of the company, I want to thank Murdo for his leadership and the important contributions he's made in his many years with Bristol-Myers Squibb," said Giovanni Caforio, chairman and chief executive officer, Bristol-Myers Squibb. "Murdo helped build a highly performing commercial organization and developed a strong bench of talent, contributing to our competitive position in the market and our success in delivering innovative medicines to patients."

The announcement of a new chief commercial officer will be the subject of a separate communication at a later date.
